HONGKONG, OCTOBER 22ND, 1910.

STRANGELY enough among the generally recognised authorities not one who has written of the characteristics of the Chinese people has given them credit for hospitality; but if among the remanded. Delegates who are now Commercial paying China a visit on the invitation of the Chinese Chambers of Commerce, there are any who contemplate writing books, that omission will certainly be rectified. Since they have been in China the American Commercial Delegates have been most rojally entertained, and their visit to this respect from their experiences in the North. They are now in Canton where they are to be entertained not only by the Chamber of Commerce, but by the Viceroy. Amidst all this entertaining their opportunities for studying the possibilities of trade. between China and America in so brief have seen many the new and industrial developments in China, and their visit and friendly interthe Northern and Southern ports will be an abiding recollection which is certain to be expressed sooner or later in substantial gains to the trade and commerce between the two countries. Doubtless the relations of Commerce on both sides of the Pacific Ocean will be maintained and cultivated.

Mr. Schwerin when he was in Hongkong last week threw out the suggestion at a Chinese gathering that the Chinese Chambers of Commerce should send groups of delegates to the United States to study trade possibilities there. We may confidently conclude that it will not be long before we see this suggestion adopted. The American Chambers of Commerce will, of course, return the compliment which the Chinese Chambers are now paying to them. Though the commercial results immediately accruing from these amenities may be small, there can be no doubt of the permanent commercial and political value of a constantly fostered friendship such as this visit of the Commercial Delegates will inaugurate. It is true that California as a State has not distinguished itself by its hospitality towards the Chinese, but it is very evident that there is a strong sentiment favourable to a relaxation of the exclusion laws. Indeed, a week ago, it was stated in native papers that the Chinese Minister at Washington had reported to the Waiwuou that in view of the increasing cordiality of the relations between China and America the Government had resolved to abrogate the exclusion laws, replacing them by regulations under which Chinese immigrants will be accorded more favourable treatment. Though it was added that an official announcement on the subject was shortly to be expected, we fear that China will have a long time yet to wait for it. Meanwhile it is interesting to note the growing aspiration in Chinese political circles for some kind of alliance with the United States, as well as with Germany, as protective measure from the danger Japanese aggression. Government circles in Peking apparenty have not yet ceased to be exercised over the new Russo-Japanese Convention. Conferences are still being held on the subject. Even YUAN SHIK-KAI though excluded from office for some reason not published has been consulted on the policy China should adopt "to avert approaching dangers," and move is in the direction of forming alliances with the United States and Germany but hesitates to recommend it from the fear it is impracticable. We quote this simply as showing the friendly feeling towards America in the political circle. Politics and Commerce are more closely related in China than in most countries and the goodwill of the Government is a considerable factor in directing the course of foreign trade. The Delegates now in China have governing authorities as well as from the nearly Commercial organisations, and it may reasonably be inferred that the foundations have been laid of a larger and improved commercial intercourse, though its develop-

H. E. Dr. Dernburg, the late Secretary of State for the German Colonies, is at present on a visit to Canton. He returns to Hongkong on Monday, when he and Herr Heinecken, the Director of the Norddeutscher Lloyd Line, will be entertained at dinner at the Club Germania by the German merchants of Hongkong.

The annual Licensing Sessions in Hongkong Southern China is not likely to differ in are announced by advertisement on page 3 to be held on Wednesday, November 2ad, at the. Council Chamber. It will be seen that twentysix licences come up for roview, and the proceedings, we learn, are likely to be more than usually interesting. The Bulletin of the Hongkong Y.M.C.A. referring to the impending departure of Captain | steamer at Vancouver on May 24th. A. J. Baker and family for England on the transport Robilla says: - We deeply regret that dant had no permission to go ashere at his period of service in Hongkong is ended and Vancouver, as no Chinese were allowed to that the time has now come for him to leave us. He has been a most valuable member of the Association, truly exemplifying the Association | Customs were apprised of the desertion, and acspirit of service. As he goes now established between the Chambers our good wishes will go with both him and his ant should forfeit the wages due to him, $13.50 family, and we wish them "bon voyage" and pleasant surroundings in their new home.

At the Magistracy yesterday a Chinese wine and spirit merchant was fined $50 for selling samshu during prohibited hours.

On his recent trip to Hongkong the Hon. C. B. Elliott, Secretary of Commorce and Police in the Philippine Islands, entered into a parcel post convention, on behalf of the Philippine Islands with the Colony of Hong-

The Bill now before the Legislative Council to amend the Liquor Licences Ordinance provides that no liquer, shall be sold or drunk upon licensed premises except between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 p.m. The Governor-in-Council however, is given power to alter such hours by Order. At present there does not appear to be any definite hours.

A visitor at Macao writes to us to say that the reports about the ill-behaviour of the Portuguese soldiers and sailors towards the priests are greatly exaggerated. One or two intoxicated men may have made themselves obnoxious, but, as our correspondent points out. it would be manifestly unfair to allow it to be inferred that an isolated case of this kind indicates the attitude of soldiers and sailors generally in Macao. Our correspondent has been most favourably impressed by the conduct of the men of both forces.

Three men were rescued from an upturned junk on Wednesday night by Captain McGinty he can attach the proceeds of the sale. of the s.s. San Cheung As the steamer was passing Tiger Island on the downward voyage from Canton a shout was heard. Usually little attention would have been paid to this, as the fishermen frequently call out if a vessel approaches close to their nets. On this occasion, however, Captain McGinty looked in the direction of the induced him to lower a boat. When the boat after the previous action concluded. reached the spot it was found that three men vere clinging to a capsized junk. The junk had been leaded, or everleaded, with bananas, and had turned turtle. Fortunately no lives were lost.

The Hon. C. B. Elliott, Secretary of Commerce and Police in the Philippines, who he appears to have suggested that the only recently made a stay of several days in Hongkong, interviewed by a Manila paper on his return, is reported to have spoken as follows:-We were entertained royally by the officials and military at Hongkong and were given every opportunity to see the places of interest. I found a very live spirit of interest existing in Hongkong with regard to two things, the coming 1911 Carnival and Baguio, the Philippines mountain capital. I heard much talk about the clubs and other places on the latter subject, and will not be surprised if the coming Baguio season will see many people from the China Coast numbered had ample proof of good will from the among the guests. Regarding the Carnival, everybody wanted to know all about it. Although nothing definite has been decided upon, as Major-General Broadwood will be relieved before that time, and the Governor, Sir Frederick Lugard, is in England on leave. It is nearly certain that Hongkong will be represented at this Carnival in several ways. Besides sending down several good athletes to take part in the Olympic Games it has been suggested that the famous Rajput Band, which was seen in Manila once before at the second Carnival, and two companies of that crack corps, be included in Hongkong's representation to the big Philippine show this year. As I said before, this is not at all certain, but has been suggested and favourably considered. and there seems to be no opposition to the idea. so it is quite likely to come about."

THE AMERICAN VISITORS.

The American commercial delegates left for Canton yesterday by the river steamer On Lee. which was chartered for the trip. They were to be met at the Chinese capital by representatives of the Viceroy and the Tartar General, as well as by members of the Provincial Assembly and the Chamber of Commerce. After spending the day in sightseeing the visitors were to dine with the Vicercy and the Tartar-General. To-day the Americans will visit the historic quarters of the city, will meet in conference with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce. and will luncheon with the General Commercial Association. After tiffin they proceed to Fatshan by rail, returning by steamer in the evening. On Monday they will be the guests of the Provincial Assembly, and in the evening they will leave for Hongkong.

SUPREME COURT.

Friday, October 21st.

IN SUMMARY JUBISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR MR. F. A. HASELAND (Acting Pulant Judge).

SUED BY EMPLOYERS. Woe Pang and six other employees of the Wing Shing firm brought action against that firm to recover a total amount of $376 said to be due for wages. Mr. Bulmer Johnson (of Messrs. Dennys Grist) represented the defordants. Mr. Harris asked his Lordship to adjourn the case for a week.

Mr. Johnson-This is rather a serious matter for my clients, who are servants of this firm, and are suing for wages. The firm is now in the hands of the bailiff, there will be tremendous delay, and my clients won't get anything at all. Mr. Harris -There is not likely to be any tremendous delay, but I think my friend expected the case to be fixed sometime January because he is claiming wages up to that month. We say they are only entitled to wages up to the present time. His Lordship -It seems rather a pressing case, and I will give you Friday at twelve.

It was pointed out that there was another case fixed for that day. Mr. Johnson-Has your Lordship no time before next Friday? This is a very urgent matter, as the goods of the shop are going to be sold on Monday.

Mr. Harris-I pointed out to my friend that

His Lordship fixed the hearing for Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock. ANOTHER ACTION AGAINST THE SAME FIRM.

Another action was brought against the same defendants by P. N. Copper, who claims the sum of $299.96, and is represented by Mr. F. X d'Almada e Castro (of Messrs. Almada sound and saw something in the water which Smith). The hearing was fixed to come or

IN THE GRIP OF THE MONEYLENDER. Mela Singh brought action against a Chinese clerk to recover the sum of $151 due for money

Mr. J. H. Gardiner, who represented the plaintiff, informed his Lordship that judgment was obtained in this action on May 15th. The reason he had had it re-instated was because at the time judgment was given the defendant was paying instalments of $25 a month in connection with another action. He had now paid off the whole of that judgment, and Mr. Gardiner thought he was in a position to pay of more on the present judgment.

His Lordship-This is the man against whom I have entered judgment for $1,000?

Mr. Gardiner-He is in a good position in the Hamburg America Line, and I think he should be able to pay larger instalments in this

His Lordship (to defendant) -- How much are you able to may ?

Defendant-I get $140 a month, and at present I am paying $60 a month

Mr. Gardiner-I understand that $140 is fixed salary, but he gets considerably more than His Lordship - What commission do you get?

Defendant-None at present, my Lord. Mr. Gardiner -- I understand he gets a considerable amount.

His Lordship-You can ascertain that fact from his employers.

Mr. Gardiner-I would like a substantial order. If your Lordship will double the amount; he was paying $25 on the old

His Lordship—What about the $1,000 to-day f Mr. Gardiner-I would ask your Lordship to deal with this case first. He is now paying $25 a month less than he was a month ago. His Lordship—Is that so?

Defendant-Yes, but I have to pay instalments on another debt now. His Lordship made an order increasing the amount of the monthly instalment by $10. The case in which the same defendant was sued by U. L. A. Mohideen to recover $1,000 for money lent was then mentioned, and the defendant consented to judgment in the action. His Lordship asked defendant how much interest he had been paying. Defendant said he paid on one loan 60 per cent, per annum.

His Lordship-What have you to say about

Mr. Gardiner-I would suggest that he be ordered to pay $20 a month, and that I have liberty to apply for an increase as soon as the other judgment is satisfied. Defendant-I will have nothing left to visits. support my wife and family.

His Lordship -That is your own fault. You are in receipt of an excellent salary for a Chinaman; a huge salary. Mr. Gardiner-And even with that he has been borrowing large sums. His Lordship ordered defendant to pay in- Bonins. stalments of $15 a month, the first to be raid on November 3rd.

THE TEST CASE. The hearing of the Test Case in which Cheeng Ting Sam sues the Kwong Yee Fung Firm, which has already lasted three days, was continued.

Mr. Eldon Potter (instructed by Mr. Sydenham Dixon) represented the plaintiff, and Mr. C. G. Alabaster (instructed by Mr. D'Almada) appeared for the defendants.

The case was adjourned, and is to be continued all next week.

CHINESE SEPARATION CASE.

The hearing of the case in which a Chinese woman named Chan Bam Mui, charged her husband, Ng Chap Ng, with persistent cruelty was resumed at the Magistracy yesterday before Mr. J. R. Wood. She asked for a separation order and a weekly allowance not exceeding $20. Mr. Leo D'Almada e Castro appeared for complainant, and Mr. G. K. H. Brutton represented the defendant. Mr. D'Almada said the overtures for settlement had failed, but notwithstanding that it was his duty to tell his Worship that even now his client was prepared to. withdraw the proceedings if defendant would promise her some allowance. He had informed his friend of this, but he had replied that his client was not in a position to pay anything. That being so, he should have to proceed to prove the persistent cruelty.

Mr. Brutton said before his friend called evidence he should like to point out that this offence had been condoned by the letters which had passed with regard to returning cohabitation. The letters showed that the wife was prepared to come back on certain terms. and this restored the husband to the same position he was in before.

His Worship said he would reserve his decision on the point raised.

Mr. Ng Li Hing, father of the defendant spoke to the parties living with him after their marriage until about two months ago.

Mr. D'Almada-During that time did you have occasion to intermeddle in their quarrels? the Tsar. The latter, to his personal -I don't know anything about it.

Have you never seen any quarrels between them ?-I have seen none.

Do you mean to suggest you don't know the reason of their parting?-That is a matter between the husband and wife. GREAT BRITAIN AND PERSIA: Sometimes they might look as if they were playing and sometimes as if they were quarrelling. I did not want to go into it, Mr. Brutton-It would have been the wife's duty to complain to you as head of the house if there had been any quarreling?-According to Chinese custom she ought to.

And she never did ?-No. Dr. Justi gave evidence to medically treating | Press.

the complainant. An amah formerly employed by the complainant stated that one night she heard her mistress crying, and she also heard noises caused by defendant striking her. He chased her and caught her by the hair. When complainant called out " Savelife," he let go, and complainant then went to her mother's house.

Another umah testified to seeing the parties fighting. Defendant struck his wife in the face and threw his hat at her.

This concluded the case, and his Worship asked if defendant would insist on his wife coming back it no order were made.

Mr. Brutton said defendant did not insist on her coming back, but he was perfectly willing that she should do so. His Worship adjourned the case for the consideration of legal authorities quoted. MONEY-LENDING "ENTERPRISE" IN HONGKONG.

In consequence, it may be, of the many exposures which have been made in the Courts of the Colony of the usurious interest charged by money-lending Indians, business in that line appears to be dull. Hence they are striking out in new directions. The manager of a well-known foreign firm of commission merchants in the Colony was astonished to receive through the post yesterday the following audacious epistle:-

The audacity of the letter is made plainer when we add that there is no foundation in fact for the suggestion that the receiver of the letter is in financial difficulties. Possibly it is a stereotyped form of making a proposal, and it may be that other European residents have been similarly favoured. It will Mr. Gardiner—That is not to an Indian, my be observed that though money is offered at 10 per cent. it is not stated whether this is per annum or per mensam. Hoosah Singh possibly does not realise the offensiveness of his conduct in touting for business in this way among selfrespecting Europeans, and for his own educational advantage it is perhaps a pity that he does no favour his would-be benefactors with personal

NEW VICEROY OF INDIA.

ON ANGLO-RUSSIAN RELATIONS.

London, October 21st. Lord Hardinge, the new Viceroy of India, has been entertained at a banquet in London.

Tributes were paid to his diplomatic ability by Lord Lansdowne and Sir Edward Grey in negotiating the Anglo-Russian entente.

Lord Hardinge said the Convention had already stood the test of trial and had been of incalculable advantage to India. This happy issue was largely due to the late King Edward and to knowledge, had always been a strong advocate of the most friendly and peaceful relations with Great Britain.

GERMAN ENTERPRISE.

CRUIBER AS ADVERTISEMENT.

According to the Hamburger Nachrichten, the new Dreadnought cruiser Von der Tann is about to make a prolonged cruise for advertisement purposes in South American waters. The

Before the Von der Tann joins the high seas fleet, she will undertake a cruise lasting several months, partly in order to test the new devices which are being tried aboard her for the first time and partly in order to bring before the eyes of the South American Republics, whose attention is now largely occupied with the creation or strengthening of their navies, an example of the capability of the German shipbuilding industry in the field of great battleship construction, and thus make propagands for German shipyards.

With this object especially, while on the West Coast of South America, calls will be made at Chilian and Peruvian ports. As after crossing the Atlantic the cruiser sails down the East Coast of Seath-America and up the West Coast to the northern bart of the continent, passing through all varieties of climate, the voyage will give an opportunity for the thorough testing of all the new machinery under various temperature and weather conditions, especially the new devices for the ventilation of the engine and boiler

The tests will be all the more valuable, as the Navy Bill contemplates the provision of a fly. ing squadron of armoured cruisers, which will not be bound to any station, but will be desnatched wherever their presence is desirable.

PHILIPPINES LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

---GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S PROGRAMME.

The Governor-General in his message to the Philippine Legislature recommends a pension system for long time employes. He says:

PENSION SCHEME.

"The government, and incidentally the people of the Philippines, are continually suffering loss of their good employes. Good men are hard to get and hold, as they are always sought for other positions, and the service which can attract the best class of men and hold them is the one that is going to prosper most. In the tropics there is the additional risk of the loss of health, and a great many valuable American employes have left the Philippine service because of the fact they feared, after 12, 15, or 20 years of faithful service, they would go back and find they were unlitted for the kind of work which remained for them to do in the homeland. The cost of living here is such that very few people areable to save much money from their salaries, and the result is that many men are willing to accept a position in the United States at a lower salary and with less responsible work. Could those who had given their lives to the service of the it would result in a marked economy in the matter of holding good men in the service, and in the long run would be beneficial to the islands and result in economies and saving and betterment of administration in excess of the cost of paying the pensions to those who availed themselves of the privilege. I therefore recommend that the legislature pass an act providing for a reasonable pension which would be proportioned on the length of service and on the salary received."

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY. The Governor-General makes the further recommendation that the government use its resources to assist the ewners of sugar estates to combine so as to construct modern sugar mills for the treatment of sugar cane. The existing mills recover only about half the recoverable sugar in cane, and modern mills would be extremely profitable to local sugar growers. Authority is asked for the investment by the Government of the accretions to the gold standard fund from interest and exchange, and that this money should be made available for the purchase of bonds of companies organized to construct and operate modern sugar mills.

THE BENGUET BOAD. Speaking of the Benguet road and Bagulo the Governor General says: "Until last year the Filipino people have reaped no advantage from the construction and maintenance of the Benguet road owing to the fact that no facilities had been provided for the use of Baguio once there. All modern and progressive tropical countries maintain a resort at an altitude which assures a cool climate, and that of Baculo is ideal. There is no doubt as to the benefit derived by Filipines from an annual sojourn in the mountains, not only for those who are suffering from disease but also for those who are enjoying ordinary health. "Contracts have been signed with the Manila Railroad Company for the construction of railroad line to Buguio, and favourable reports have been received from the engineers of the feasibility of constructing the railroad line in the near future With this additional facility the value of Baguio should be greatly enhanced to the Filipinos. "Its effect on people suffering from tuberonlosis is most beneficial, and it is believed that as a tuberculosis resort alone, it will ultimately justify every expense that has been put upon it. "It is my belief that the legislature should seriously consider making Baguio the site for a university, with the object of giving the students the advantage of developing their bodies and minds under favourable conditions which prevail in a temperate climate. I am not prepared to make any recommendations. however, for immediate legislation to this end. "The cost of the government buildings and improvements at Baguio has been taken from the revenues of 1909, P204,000; 1910, P304,000. including some P90,000 in equipment; and in 1911. P160,000, which it is expected to spend in the course of the year." CATTLE DISEASE. In regard to the suppression of catile diseases. the Governor-General says: The measures taken toward the suppression of rinderpest in the islands bid fair to wipe out this disease, although we are still far from safe, and reinfection of localities is constantly occurring.

"It is now recommended that animals afflicted with rinderpost be immediately killed and their carcasses destroyed. The very fact of their being alive in the community is a menace. The attendants are likely to carry the disease on their feet and clothes; birds might carry it, and it is better that the chance of infection be eliminated. It is proposed that the bureau of agriculture be authorized to immediately kill any animal as soon as the disease is detected. giving from the insular treasury a reasonable compensation to the owner thereof. I approve this recommendation and urge that aspecial appropriation of the sum of P75.000 be made to meet the expense incurred for this purpose during the remainder of the present fiscal year, and that in the appropriation for the ensuing fiscal year an allowance of P100,000 be included for this purpose."

AGRICULTURE. The Governor-General recommends an increase in the appropriations for the bureau agriculture for the coming fiscal year. The bureau estimates that it will need P1,318,700.

SHIPPING AND OTHER BILLS. He recommends the passage of the irrigation bill; a commercial shipping bill to define the status of seamen and creating the office banks to keep the 20 per cent. reserve required corporation law, against only the currency accounts and the fixed deposits coming due within thirty days. The passage of this Act, it is claimed by the chief executive, would relieve In his speech at Edinburgh Mr. Balfour said the banks in a great measure and afford sufficient security for the depositors.

> MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES. Governor-General Forbes also recommends that the penalty for cattle stealing be increased in order to put a stop to the continued theft of work animals.

In regard to the establishment of a gas plantin Manila the Governor-General says: "Manila is one of the few large cities in the world of Renter cables from Washington that there is | great importance that has not a gas plant. It of European exporters of textiles to the American | a gas plant in Manila provided a suitable Customs regulations have been settled, except franchise is granted to them by the legislature. as regards the regulation which requires samples He therefore recommends legislation on the to be submitted by Consuls, which promises to subject.

Recommendations are made for the reduction of the penalty imposed upon persons convicted of falsification of public documents. In this regard the Governor-General says:

"By recent decision of the Supreme Court the United States the punishment imposed the laws in force in the Philippine Islands for the falsification of a public document is declared to be ornel and unusual. The penalty imposed by existing law for this crime is out of proportion to the magnitude of the crime and the penalties imposed for other similar crimes. is recommended that an ameniment be made to the penal code modifying the penalty in those cases, as the decision of the Supreme Court may have the result of liberating certain persons who ought to undergo punishment yet who cannot be punished to the extreme now provided in the law. - The Cablenews.

ADVENTURES OF A BOTANIST

Horticultural Society for an exhibit of new plants raised at Aldenham House, Herts, from seeds sent home from China and shown by the Hon. Vicary Gibbs.

The story of these wonderful plants, hitherto unknown to betanists, is of a remartic character.

The seeds were collected by Mr. E. H. Wilson, who travelled through Northern and Western China, on behalf of Mr. Vicary Gibbs and some American horticulturists, in search of new treasures of the flower kingdom and plant life. His wanderings led him into wild districts of China never before visited by Europeans. He enmity of the Chinese hill-tribes. He suffered many hardships and perils. With his caravan of twenty-five guides and carriers he climbed great and unexplored mountains, made his way through vast virgin forests, and lived in the most remote and desolate regions of that great Empire. He had no other object but the discovery of new plants; he risked his life and health because that ambition led him enwards and lured him into the wildest spots, and his toil was rewarded with the discovery of an immense number (at least 1.000) of new and rare plants. One of Mr. Wilson's first great journeys was through the Chin-ting-shan region, near the Chengtu Plain, where the range was clothed with a dense jungle and brushwood. Descending to this valley he crossed over to the territory of one of the semi-independent tribes, and obtained the friendship of the chief, who allowed him to traverse his country freely. This region was previously unknown botanically, and Mr. Wilson found many new specimens. Reach ing the city of Tuan the traveller after a rest crossed the river and for twenty one days cut his way through to Tachien-lu, traversing the of several tribes who own but a shadowy allegiance to the Emporer of China and live in barbaric liberty. Th roads were but mountain tracks and cross ed great ranges rising to 15,000ft, where the scenery is described by him as "wild and entrancing." For many days he was in the silence and the beauty of the great virgin woods and with axes his companions hewed their way through the undergrowth, sleeping night under magnificent birches, with rich orange-coloured bark, which grow to height of 100ft, and have a gigantic girth. In another journey Mr. Wilson passed through the wilderness behind Mount Omei, and in the savage scenery of the steep cliffs and crags found many new treasures. On the lower ranges charcoal burners have destroyed all the forest, leaving in its place a dense jungle shrubs. But from 7.000 to 10.000ft. Mr. W. son found an absolutely impenetrable forest bamboos. On Mount Wa he found among other wonderful plants, a variety of Lunicera hispada with enormously large flowers, creamy yellow colour, and some plants, with rich marcon flowers and scarlet fruits over a foot in length.

As the result of these wanderings Mr. Wilson sent 1,000 different varieties of seed to Mr. Vicary Gibb under the direction of Mr. Edwin Beckett, the well-known herticulturist, who superintends the great gardens at Aldenham House in Hertfordshire, no fewer than 700 varieties have been raised into hardy and thriving plants. A great many forms of Chinese blackberry are growing in profusion in these gardens, and one which is already fruiting is especially peculiar because of its large, white fibrous fruit. One interesting plant was Chinese rubber tree, which grows to a great size and should give a rich sap. Here, perhaps, a new source of fortune in rubber. Chinese variety of the Judas tree. which Iscariot is said to have hanged himself, a plant called Paulowina, with giant leaves, a Chinese horse chestnut, a great tulip tree. Chinese vines growing most luxuriantly, and an immense number of new plants blooming already with flowers that never before been seen in the Western world and burdened with names that would terrify all but botanists) have been successfully reared in Mr. Vicary Gibbs' garden, from the seeds which were secured on the adventu one journeys by Mr. Wilson.

SHANGHAI TRADE

Messrs. Ilbert & Co.'s Piece Goods Market Report says:---

There have been several factors of a critical ature in native monetary circles which have entirely disorganised our market once more. In the meantime, however, while these matters are engaging the earnest attention of financial and Consular bodies, the less comment the better. The actualities that have occurred in the interval are the suspension of a large native exchange bank, having branches in several different provinces and total liabilities of close upon twenty million taels. Also a run upon, the Ningpo bank has been in progress during the last couple of days. Naturally with the financial chaos now prevailing, enquiry for purchases from stock is not brisk, and aithough there are several important country outlets which want cargo, orders are shipping commissioner; a bill authorizing the being withheld for the time being. Merchants with funds in hand have, however, been actively the security of actual goods to that of credit balances with their banks. The bull account for imports is steadily growing, some goods being down to extremely, low stock, while the country demand must show some reflection from the excellent crops that are being gathered in, but without financial facilities being available the business cannot eventuate. Meantime prices in producing markets are going up rapidly with the rise in the price of the raw material, reports of early frost and a short picking season having sent the price of 'spot" American middling from 7.61d. to 8.15d. per lb. in a week. Crop accounts received here appear, however, to be of a very varied nature, and it may be that the speculative element is making the most of the highly sensitive position of

RUBBER NEWS.

BUKIT LINTANG RUBBER. The Bukit Lintang Rubber Estates is a comparatively small undertaking, having a nominal share capital of £30,000 only and a property in Malacca comprising 791 acres, all of which except 50 scres, is under cultivation. Although it was not registered more than two and a half years ago, the company has done remarkably well, and is now making a handsome return to its shareholders. Considerable progress was made during the financial years ended June 30 last, the rubber crop for that period being 26,225lb., against the estimate of 20,000lb., while the price realised averaged 7s. 2d. per lb. For the previous year the crop harvested was only 2.195lb., the average price being 5s. 61d. For the period under review the profit amounted to £7,751, and the directors recommend a final dividend of 25 per cent., making 30 per cent. for the year, leaving £1,238 to be carried forward, against £761 brought into the account. This is very satisfactory, and a return of 30 per cent. in the first year of any distribution being made augurs well for the future of the company. Next A gold medal has been awarded by the Royal | year's rubber crop is estimated at 70,000lb.

"BEAR" BAID ON HIGHLANDS. The London Globe of the 26th ult. says:— With regard to the rumours concerning the Highlands and Lowlands Para Rubber Company, to which we have previously referred, and which the secretaries of the company attribute to "malicious or designing persons," it appears that only two cases of cholera have occurred on one division of the estates, none having been reported since July 7. Shareholders will be glad to have this official assurance, and to know that the reports from the estates are uniformly satisfactory. The rubber harvested to the endof August amounted to 328,670lb., against an estimate of 500.000lb. for the year. Of this year's crop, 260,000lb, have been sold to date at an average of 8s. 61d. per lb. net. At the same date last year the company had sold 171,195lb. at an average of 6s. 4sd. per lb. net. amount of rubber harvested this year to 31st August exceeds the 1909 yield to same date by 117.755lb. The increase in the yield of rubber te the end of last month amounted to 55.8 per cent., and the average sale price of this year's rubber amounts to more than 33 per cent, in excess of that of last year. In accordance with our anticipations, the directors announce a second interim dividend on account of 1910 of 10 per cent. THE MARKET GENERALLY. The improving tendency in the Rubber Share Market has come most opportunely, and it is devoutly hoped that it will make further progress. Following on the heavy depression which was so much in evidence up to a few days ago, and which was attributable to the liquidation of weak operators' positions in the Far East where there has been great financial trouble—the aftermath of the rubber "boom"-the recovery is doubly welcome. The continuance of the improvement will, of course, depend a great deal upon whether there are any further weak accounts to be closed, as no market can stand up against a constant stream of liquidation but it is understood that in addition to "bear covering purchases, investors have been picking up the shares of some of the leading rubber companies which are now at level at which they will return on the outlay from 10 to 15 per cent. Highlands at 51 should pay well over 10 per cent. on the present price of shares, and Pataling at 27 will yield an in vestor somewhere about 14 per cent. The dividend of the Damansara Company wil probably be on a scale sufficiently large to give purchasers of the shares at 71 about 13 or 14 per cent. and numerous similar instances might be given to show that holders of shares in better class rubber enterprises may look forward with every confidence to receiving a substantial return on their capital. The immediate outlook for this market may not be over-cheerful, as it is doubtful how much farther the price of rubber may recede; but before very long it is certain that a great change for the better must occur. The increasing uses to which rubber is being put must increase the demand for the raw material, and the buyers who are now holding back will be forced to come to market and replenish their stocks, — The Globe, Sept. 28th. PLANTATION U. HARD PARA. Mr. Norman W. Grieve presided at the annual meeting of the Tremelbye (Selangor) Rubber Company, held in London on the 23rd nlt. He said that since the last meeting the rubber industry had gone through a period of excitement which was unique in the history of any industrial or agricultural enterprise. For the present this unhealthy state of things was at an end. The boom had spent the mad force of its youth, and, after several spasmodic ups and downs, the market had now settled down into a more sober state. Share values had, of course, Jargely followed the fluctuations in the price of the raw material. The present position of the rubber market was involved in some obscurity. A good deal depended on the demand from America. By shareholders in a steadily developing concern like their own however, the present drop in the price of rubber could be regarded with equanimity. Indeed, would have been much to the company's interest if the range of high prices had not lasted so long, as the number of new flotations would probably not have been so large. That many of these were over capitalised and would, under a lower range of prices of rubber, cause disappointment affected only those who bought shares in many cases at a large premium, but where it affected the company was that the increased competition for labour and European managers made the duties and responsibilities of directors harder and more anxious, and would call for constant endeavours to keep expenditure within reasonable bounds. It was very easy to raise wages but difficult, should necessity arise, to get them back to a more moderate level. It was satisfactory to the board that they were able to recommend first dividend of 10 per cent., and that the current year's working promised to show satisfactory results. The price of plantation rubber was now considerably below that of hard Para, preparation of their produce, so that their rapidly increasing output might be brought to George Meredith constantly spelt the market in the best and most attractive form. The report was adopted.

CHINA AND KING GEORGE'S CORONATION.

A Peking telegram says that King George' coronation will take place in June next year, and the Chinese Government intends to appoint Prince Ching's son, Prince Tsai Chen, as Amton, caused by the undoubted lateness of the bassador on the congratulatory mission. Lord crop in America, and its consequent dependence upon a long picking season to produce a large Li Ching-feng, the retiring Minister, will be appointed as secretary to the mission.

NOTES AND NEWS.

THE ARMS OF THE STATE OF VICTORIA. The King has approved a cont-of-arms for the State of Victoria. Judging from the description in the Melbourne papers, the design possesses some novel features. It embraces the five stars forming the constellation of the Southern Cross, two female figures typical of Peace and Prosperity, and "a demi-kangaroo holding an Imperial Crown in its paws." A "demi-kangaroo" sounds like a fresh recruit to heraldic monsters from the Antipodes,

AN ENTERESTING FIND An interesting find has been made at Nantes. During some excavations workmen came across a skeleton about two feet below the surface, and this is generally though to be the remains either of one of the Knights Templars or a Knight of Malta. The spot where it was discovered was once the site of a commanderie the Knights Templars. In 1308 the Pope suppressed the Order, and the Duke of Orleans of that day burned the troublesome members. Their goods he gave to the Knights of Malta. In 1756 the town acquired the ground and it is thought that the skeleton new found is most likely that of one of the Knights who died in France.

DUBALUMIN.

The new alloy called "duralumin," which has been discovered by Measrs. Vickers, Sons & Maxim, is expected to be on the market this month. Mr. H. B. Weeks, the chief chemist of Messrs. Vickers' works, Barrow, stated in an interview that in the course of investigations they had found an alloy which they believed to be superior to anything of its kind hitherto manufactured. The company had decided to manufacture it on a large scale, and the new industry would be put down at Birmingham. The alloy, whilst slightly heavier than pure aluminium, was as strong as steel. It could be rolled, drawn, stumped, extended or forged at suitable temperatures. It was less corrodible than other high aluminium alloys under all the usual tests, and possessed altogether many valuable proporties. Messrs Vickers. Sons & Maxim, added Mr. Weeks thought there was bound to be a large demand for it, as it was only one-third the weight of brass. The firm had protected this alloy by patents throughout the whole world. COTTON-GROWING IN RHODESIA

An important communication is made by the Chartered Company. The Council of the British Cotton Growing Association has now approved of the arrangements for the development of cotton growing in Rhodesia, in conjunction with the British South Africa Company. Several months ago Mr. Bateson, one of the association's most experienced agriculturists, was sent to Rhodesia to report upon the suitability of the soil and climate. He reported that there were many large districts along the railway between Livingstone and Broken Hill where the conditions were favourable for cotton growing. There are a number of white planters. who, with few exceptions, have not been very successful, mainly owing to the lack of exper assistance. In some cases the land has been badly selected, and attempts have been made to grow cotton on sandy and unsuitable soil, and in others the land has been wrongly tilled. It has been decided to give them expert advice on the spot, to open an experimental and training farm, and to establish a ginnery. It is proposed to commence work with a plantation of about 200 acres for the first season, which could afterwards be extended, and by the close of the second season sufficient data should have been acquired to prove whether cotton cultivation can be made: commercial success. The cotton produced in Rhodesia is of a very desirable quality, and has generally realised about 2d. per pound upon the price of Middling American. It has hardly been possible as yet to form a reliable opinion as to the cost of production.

A LETTER OF REBUKE PROM POPE PIUS. The Pope in answer to an anti-clerical speech delivered by Signor Nathan, the Mayor of Rome, last month on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the fall of the Pope's temporal power, has addressed a letter to Mgr. Respighi, Vicar of Rome, saying that he wishes to express to him his deep sorrow. His Holiness adds that Signor Nathan, as a public official was not satisfied with solemnly recalling the enniversary of the day on which the sacred rights of pontifical sovereignty were trampled upon, but also dared to offend the doctrines of the Roman Catholic faith, the Vicar of Christ, and the Church itself.

Pope Pius said further: "Speaking in the name of Rome, which according to authoritative statements should be honoured as the peaceful home of the supreme pontiff, Signor Nathan simed directly at our spiritual jurisdiction denouncing with impunity and to the public contempt even the acts of our apostolic ministry. The papal letter also denounces the blasphomous words used by Signor Nathan against the divine essence of the Roman Catholic Church, and against the veracity of its dogmas and the authority of its councils, offending the religious feeling of the faithful. Against this 'accumulation of impieties" the Pope indignantly protests, calling the attention not only of the Roman faithful but of the faithful of the whole world to the constant and ever growing offences against religion which, his Holiness states, are perpetrated even by the public authorities in the very see of the Roman

BAD SPELLERS.

"Many University graduates, really clever men and eminent in the medical profession, are unable to write three consecutive lines without a spelling mistake." The doctors thus rebuked in one of the medical journals may console themselves with the thought that eminent authors have been known to suffer from the same disability. HONGKONG SHARE MARKET.

Messrs, Vernon & Smyth in their weekly share report dated 21st October state:-

Business generally shows no improvement during the past week, and though with few exceptions, there has been no material decline in rates, the market, owing to the tightness of money, closes with a tendency towards weakness. "Rubbers" have ruled fairly steady during the period under review; but at the close are somewhat easier in London, being apparently affected also by financial stringency, the Bank of England rate having advanced to 5 per cent, and the market rate of discount to 37 percent. Fine Hard Para Rubber was last quoted per Reuter at 6/4 per lb. and the tone of the London share market weaker." Bar Silver has advanced to 264d per oz., and Sterling T.T. to 1/10 1. Shanghai T.T. is quoted at 73%, and the Bank's buy.

ing rate for 3d/s bills at 74h. BANKS.—Hongkong and Shanghais have receded under the influence of a rising exchange and are obtainable at $905—probably $900. The London rate remains unchanged at £86 10s. Nationals are firmer with buyers at $81. MARINE INSURANCES.—Unions have been at $840, and more shares could probably be placed. Cantons have been booked in a small way at $175 ex. the dividend $15 per share paid on the 17th instant. China Traders, North Chinas and Yangtzes are unchanged and without local FIRE INSURANCES—Hongkougs have been booked at $350, and Chinas at $115, the latter probably with further buyers.

SHIPPING-Hongkong, Canton and Macaos have been booked and have further small buyers at $31. Index are quiet at $57 with probable buyers. China and Manilas are procurable at 810. Douglases at 822, and Star Ferrys at $23. Shells have recoded to 78/6. REFINERIES-Chips Sugars continue quiet with cellers at $145, and Luzous at $15. MINING-Quotations are unchanged, and we have no business to report.

DOCKS, WHARVES, AND GODOWNS.-Hong-& Whampon Docks are quiet but steady at Kowloon Wharves have been booked at 254 and close in further request. New Amov Docks, Shanghai Docks, and Shanghai & Hongkew Wharves are unchanged and without LANDS. HOTELS AND BUILDINGS.—Hong-

A Medical Officer

Debility, Nervous Exhaustion-

Certainly the absolute confidence of eminent doctors is evidence enough of the exceptional benefits imparted by Phosferine. Even doctors cannot do more to prove their confidence than by using Phosferine to remedy their own disorders. Could any proof be more definite, more convincing than the testimony of John Dodd, D.S.M., Medical Officer in the late South African War, who says: "After being shot through both lungs I was dangerously reduced, and I attribute it solely to Phosferine that I regained my usual health. I have proved the value of Phosferine in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion." This brilliant medical officer found Phosferine particularly serviceable for insufficiency of nerve force, and declares nothing was so suitable in combating fevers, chills, &c.

Not possible now

John Dodd, D.S.M. (late of the Medical Staff, 5th Imperial Yeomanry, ist Brigade, South Africa), Ladysmith House, Witton-le-Wear, writes: remedy Phosferine, and it has proved particularly serviceable where there exists insufficiency of nerve force. This condition, often due to primary weakness, lays the system open to influenza, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, indigestion, fevers, and in remedying this predisposition I have found nothing so suitable as your preparation. Phosferine invariably goes to the root of the mischief direct. The certainty of its action is moreover an estimable feature. In debility and kindred ailments, caused by a reduced system, it has unprecedented power, and in my own case I can bear evidence to its exceptional value, and am indeed greatly indebted to its wonderful restorative properties. During the late war in South Africa, I was shot through both lungs and pericardium and that reduced me most dangerously; after taking Phosferine for about two months it brought me back to my usual health. I attribute this solely to the use of Phosferine. I have advised Phosferine in several cases, and proved its value in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion."-March 11, 1910.

POWER FROM THE SUN. In the experiments of H. E. Willsie and J Boyle, Jr., solar heat has been collected by passing water through a glass-covered heater exposed to the sun's rays. The heated water was stored in a well insulated tank, and drawn off to circulate around a sulphur dioxide boiler, then, after giving up its heat, was again passed through the heater. It was calculated that in latitude 34 degrees a square foot of water surface would take up about 2,300 British thermal units on a June day and 1,600 in a December day. Using two heater sections exposing 1,000 square feet to the sun, the heat collected was made to run a 20 horse-power sulphur dioxide engine, and at times developed about 15 horse-power, with a boiler pressure of 245 pounds per square inch. Reviewing the result-Mr. Willsie has found the cost per horse-power of the solar power plant to be about $164, or rather more than four times the cost of a steam power plant. He makes due allowance for this difference in first investment, but sanguinely concludes that in a suitable region -like California-sun power can compete in cost with steam power so long as coal costs more than using coal at $2.00 per ton. SUCCESSIUL ELECTRO-CULTURE. The system of electric agriculture developed by Sir Oliver Lodge, aided by J. E. Newman and R. Bomford, is now in use on several farms in England, six in Germany, and one in Holland. A network of galvanized iron wires is suspended at a height of 18 feet on wooden posts 70 yards apart, about one post per acre being needed, and an induction coil, supplied with continuous current by an ordinary dynamo, posititely electrifies the wires to 60,000 to 100,000 volts. This electrification of the air over the soil continues 8 to 10 hours a day for 5 or 6 months. Very little power is needed, and the yield per acre is increased 30 per cent, and even more under some conditions.

STONES IN WOOD. A unique instance of the enclosure of stones by growing wood has been brought to the notice of the Linnaean Society of London by Cecil Carus-Wilson. A gravel-pit was opened near Faversham, Kent, about 23 years ago, and excavation was continued until 10 years ago, the oak trees growing over the deposit having been felled and the stumps and roots dislodged. The gravel consists of subangular, water-worn flints and sandstone blocks mixed with sand. Some of the roots and stumps are still on the ground, as the woody tissue had taken up and completely enveloped many of the stones, and the material not only resisted saw and exe but was dangerous to use as fuel because the heat caused the violent bursting of the stones-Some roots contain dozens of stones, really forming a conglomerate of flints enclosed in a woody matrix. In one specimen 67 flints were counted, the largest weighing several pounds, and many empty cavities showed where others had fallen out through shrinkage of the wood Examples of stones in wood in much less abund. ance are not unknown elsewhere. A church. yard six or seven miles south of Faversham hassix very large yews in the trunks of some flints, being embedded 7 feet above ground; and another churchyard not fa r away has two yew showing flints and fragments of tiles at a height of 7 feet. SUSPENSION BRIDGE DEFLECTION. The most rigid long-span suspension bridge ever built is stated by T. Kennard Thomson to be the Williamsburg Bridge of New York. The bridge is 7,250 feet long, the main span being 1,596 feet, the stiffening trusses are about 40 feet deep, and the four main cables contain 31,784 wires, 208 wires making up each of the 37 strands of each cable, The deflection at the centre-due to expansion, contrac. tion and live load—is6 feet 9 inches, The Brooklyn suspension bridge is 6,000 feet long with a river span of 1,595 feet, and the centre rises and falls about 9 feet each way, or 18 feet in all. The Blackwell's Island bridge, a cantilever, is expected to have an extreme deflection of only about 20 inches.

AN EXAGGERATED DANGER. Sewer air has been robbed of much of its terrors, an accurate investigation has shown that it cannot spread disease in the wholesale manner formerly attributed to it. The evidence tends to show that the germs of sewer-sir are those of street air, and that only very rarely are any terms taken up from sewage. SCIENCE IN PICTURES.

Moving pictures now represent activities of wide range. Photographs have been made of plants at rather long intervals, and have shown the entire development on a screen in a few moments. Using X. rays, Kohler has obtained pictures of the movements of respiration. Each exposure lasted 15 seconds, during which time the breath was held, and the reduced photographs, joined in a continuous strip, were projected by the cinematograph in a moving picture of the respiratory process. With electric sparks of one ten-millionth of a second, Cranz lias photographed 400 successive phases of the firing mechanism of an automatic pistol, although the entire operation occupied only a tenth of a second. Other feats have been as marvellous, and Londenfeld, in one of these achievements, has recorded the flight of insects by moving pictures, using exposures of 1/42,000 of a second.

RADIUM INHALATION. While radium itself is being hopefully looked to as a cure for serious skin disease and chemicals bids fair to become popular remedy for some ailments. Water artificially charged with emanation has been used by Dr. A. Furstenberg for beverages and baths, and the persons he has treated-more than 100-have had many different diseases. He has found internal application necessary, however, any favourable effects of the baths on persons of healthy skin seeming to be due to emanation inhaled. He recommends inhalation of radium emanation in certain cases, and has obtained surprising curative effects, expecially in gout and rhoumatism, but little benefit for nervous troubles. Mineral water cures are now attributed by some entirely to the radium

LESSENING GLACIERS. The latest report on European glaciers—that of Dr. Ed. Bruckner and E. Muret for 1907shows an average lessening in size in the Alpe, In the Central Alps, one glacier, the Vomb in the Rhine Basin, is increasing; 12 are possibly increasing; one is stationary; 4 are probably decreasing, and 50 are certainly decreasing. In the Eastern Alps, one is probably advancing, one is stationary, and 24 are in retreat; and in the Italian Alps, all glaciers but one are retreating. In Norway, on the other hand, the glaciers of Jotunheim are growing larger-6 having been advancing and 4 retreating in 1904-5; 7 advancing and 7 retreating in 1905-6; and 15 ad vancing and only 3 retreating in 1906-7.

Dr. Sabouraud, of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with human dandruff germs, and "in between five and six weeks," says the official report of the Pasteur Institute, "the rabbit was completely denuded, in fact it had become entirely hald."

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR SUFFERERS.

The interest in Malaria to every dweller in China is necessarily overwhelming, for its constitutional effects are so far-reaching and its devitalising power is so great that it is constantly spoken of as "The Scourge of the Tropics."

As is generally known, Malaria is due to parasites which feed on the active substancethe harmoglobin-of the red blood corpuscles. The patient thus suffers from Ausmia, and as the microbes multiply and the blood is further destroyed the condition degenerates into what is known as Cachexia, an impairment of the general tissue vitality which involves the nervous, muscular, mental, circulatory, respiratory, digestive and other systems. The Malaria patient complains of many depressing symptoms, including loss of memory, impairment of the vision, depression of the spirits, insomniadigestive disorders, lassitude, wasting and ever increasing weakness-all of which make life a burden.

Happily, through the discovery of a preparation which is as powerful in overcoming these terrible after effects as quinine is in curing the early rigors of Malaria, the disease has lost its terrors.

This preparation is Sanatogen, the most powerful revitalising and restorative agent the world has known, which has produced effects described by dectors as little short of marvellous in saving life and restoring moribund patients to perfect health.

nature of its constituents. These are glycero- all sides. Inside the fort there is complete disphosphate of sodium, the active principle of the order. Everything is rotting. Their them to their full health, power and activity. thus curing the anomia. It tones the nerves, energises the brain, nourishes the system and, in this way, overcomes the Cachesia.

How rapidly it restores the blood is preved by a case, reported in the medical papers, in which the blood corpusales of an Officer in the Navy increased half a million per cubic centimetre and the Homoglobin 42 per cent. with a fortnight's use of Sanatogen.

Malaria has a peculiarly bad effect on children. whose growth it returds most markedly. When given Sanatogen, such children rapidly regain their lost weight, recover their health and grow normally.

Malaria also produces the appearance of premature old age in adults. Sanatogen removes this appearance and the patient rapidly looks younger and younger until he becomes as well as he ever was in his life.

The letters received from physicians, from men of distinguished position and from paties to generally who have testified to the extraordinary cures wrought by Sanatogon are numbered by the ten thousand.

Dr. H. H. W. Hart, Hapur Remount Depote Babugark, United Provinces, India, writes :-

"I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of Sanatogen in cases of Malaria, Enterio Fever, Dysentery and other exhausting diseases I have used it regularly now in my practice for the past two years, and in no single instance have I been disappointed with its results. I can honestly affirm that many of my worst cases owed their recovery to Sanatogen."

Mr. Thomas Lynn, Calcutta, India, writes :---"I was a broken-down wreck of a man, as far as health goes, and had been a martyr to Malaria for four years, becoming weaker and weaker, with the natural run-down condition and its accompaniments, Brainfag, Nervousness and Dyspepsia. Two bottles of Sanatogen have made an extraordinary difference for the bettermay, for the best. I shall always highly recommend Sanatogen everywhere I go. You will readily understand what a boon such a renovator of life is to people in the Tropics, who have the awful heat to fight against."

What is true of Malaria is equally true of Dysentery, Enterio Fever, and the other depressing con attons which are so prevalent in tropical climates. Sanatogen may be obtained from all chemists. Messrs. A. S. WATSON & Co., Hongkong, will forward, post free, to all applying for it, a copy of a brightly written pamphlet "How to keep Well in Tropical Countries," by a physician, on mentioning the "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."

XII. KASHGAR TO ANDIJAN. (FROM "THE TIMES" PERING CORRESPON-

Andijan, July 12th. Kashgar city is 132 miles from the Russian frontier town of Irkoshtam, which again is 174 miles from Andijan, the nearest Russian railway station. The distance between the two places is divided into 15 stages, but travelling quickly with excellent horses I covered the distance in a little over eight days. Transport charges are equivalent to £10 10s, the ton. The first stage is Minyul, a village 30 miles from Kashgar, where in a grove of poplars is the famous tablet commemorating the restoration of China's sovereignty in 1878. Here China maintains in wrotched mud-hovels a garrison of 30 ill-kempt braves from Hunan and Kansu armed with ancient muzzle-loaders, Petroleum is found at the second stage and coal is being mined at the third. At various places along the route are the ruins of forts erected at the time of the reconquest.

FRONTIER GARRISONS. Recent travellers have reported that there was observable in Turkestan some disquiet on the part of the Russian authorities at the apparent recrudescence of China's military activity in the territory along the frontier." But such reports are not reconcilable with the facts as saw thom. They are as unfounded as similar reports of China's military activity along the Yunuan frontier of Burms. The Chinese chief frontier fort on the main route from Kashgar to Andijan is at Ulugohat, 27 miles from the frontier. Another smaller fort called Yogin is 13 miles nearer the Russian boundary. On all maps of Central Asia Ulugchat is given prominence, its name being set out in type worthy of a frontier stronghold. I examined it accordingly with some care. It is a mud fort situated in a basin on the right bank of an unbridged river, Sanatogen derives its power from the unique | the Kizil Su, and is commanded by mountains on proteid, the chief body-building element of milk, stalls, but no horses. Of the four Chinese by an intricate scientific process protected by who hold this frontier post and represent the Royal Letters Patent. The resulting product | majesty of China, two at the time of my visit is so easily assimilated by the body that it is all were weeding in the fields, another was washing Sanatogen's action in Malaria is due to its in a jersey and pants, was playing the banjo at arms, which I saw in one dirty room, were rusty old tower muskets-emblems of authority, not weapons of offence. Outside the camp in four Khirgiz tents were the 15 Khirgiz who constituto the second line of defence. They are armed with similar tower muskets cut down to carbine size, and are employed as cavalry patrols. Two filthy ponds of surface water provided the garrison with water. The courageous Khirgiz drink this water unboiled and unstrained, the less courageous Chinese dare not do so,

.I am no military expert and my opinion is given only for what it is worth, but I formed the opinion that this frontier stronghold would fall before the resolute attack of three old ladies armed with broomsticks. There could be no better illustration of the neglect which is characteristic of China's frontier policy. Other countries employ smart serviceable soldiers on their borders. China alone sends to her frontier the most wretched of her ragamuffins. Every foreigner who enters China by this route forms his first impression of the Chinese Empire from witnessing the garcison of this frontier post. Every Kashgarian or Andijani who crosses the frontier—and they do so by thousands—has on the one hand the objectlesson of Russian strength and military pride and on the other the demonstration of China's weakness and military inefficiency. At Yegin, a stage nearer the frontier on the other side of the river from the main road, is the second fort referred to. I found it open to all comers. It was occupied by a solitary brave, whom I had some difficulty in rousing from his opium sleep. And though I succeeded in awakening him. I could not obtain from him any other military information than is conveyed in these words, "I have no opium to sell," and having repeated this irrelevant declaration twice he rolled back to sleep and I left him. A pleasant ride of 12 miles over the mountains leads the traveller to Irkeshtam, the Russian frontier posts and Customs station, built in 1884 on a steep ridge overlooking the broad river. The post is exactly on the border, its site is well selected, and the small garrison of 25 Cossacks is quite strong enough to preserve order among this unwarlike people.

UNDER THE PURE FOOD AND DRUGS ACT, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

On every bottle of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills sold in the United States of America there is placed an extra label, bearing a number and the word "Guaranteed" which denotes that the proprietors of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills guarantee that they contain nothing that is not in strict accordance with the Pure Food and Drugs Act. It is further guaranteed that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills comply with the regulations of the Department of Health, both as to the standard of purity of the ingredients used in their manufacture. and also that they are a good, wholesome remedy for the purposes they are advertised for. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are a purely vegetable sugarcoated medicinal preparation, carefully compounded by experts, and are manufactured on the premises under the direct supervision of the proprietors. The care taken in the production of these Pills, is illustrated by the manner in which they are packed. Instead of being put up in cheap wooden boxes—that absorb poisonous and other substances they are packed in glass bottles at a cost of five or six times that of wooden boxes. The extra cost is more than made up in the satisfaction of knowing that the Pills reach the public just as they left the laboratory, unaffected by moisture or climatic changes and free from contamination by contact with any foreign matter.

They are a perfect Blood Purifier and a positive and permanent cure for Biliousness, ndigestion, Constipation, Headaches, Sallow Complexion, Liver and Ridney troubles, Piles, Pimples, Boils and Blotches, and for Female Ailments."

JANE BARLOW (Author of "Bogland Studies, " etc.).

The inhabitants of Rathkerin are fairly well used to the idea of emigration in some forms and every now and then see with telerable equanimity people going forth from among them, bound for England or the States. Such incidents are, no doubt, generally regrettable, but not necessarily to be regarded as entailing hopeless severance and perpetual exile. Even the At lantic can be crossed so quickly now that news of the departed may be had within a fertnight; and thenceforward lefters sometimes continue to arrive with a speed and regularity which encourages a belief in the possibility of a bodily return. But it is quite different when a person sets off to one of those vaguely situated places which can only be described as "outlandish altogether," months intervening before the stayat-homes need hope for tidings, and popular opinion running strongly against the probability of any further communications.

Accordingly there was much lamentation, both expressed and suppressed, at the departure of young Frank Cabill for a region called the Argentine, about which few facts were ascertained beyond its extreme remoteness and inaccessibility. For Frank was nucommonly goodlooking and agreeable, besides being a renowned sportsman and athlete, so that the gap made in the neighbourhood by his removal would not easily be filled. The loss, however, seemed unavoidable. His father's sudden death, in unexpectedly embarrassed circumstances, left him little choice of plans; his means scantily sufficing for his transport to the distant climes and from ALL WINE MERCHANTS. [46] where he had heard of an opening-by worse luck, some of his friends considered.

Indeed Lizzie O'Meara said to her sister Norah that she wished Frank had been left without money enough for travelling expenses. because then he would have had to stay in Rathkerin. To which North objected : "Sur he might better be away then fretting his heart out here, like some creature tethered with a short rope."

"Well, he's pulled up his tethering-pin now that's certain," Lizzie rejoined; and Norah

"Maybe he has," But to herself she added "And maybe he has not." If it had not been for untoward circum-

stauces, these Misses O'Meara would hardly have numbered among their acquaintances Frank Cahill, a small cattle-dealer's son. For the O'Mearus belonged to a family of old, ancient quality, who, within living people's memory, had owned a fine though much encumbered landed estate. They had, however, long been coming down in the world, and had, so to speak, descended several steps at a run during the lifetime of Lizzie and Norah's father, whose unthrifty habits and convivial tastes led him into extravagance, the disastrous results of which were swelled by numerous children and an invalid wife. Little of their earlier prestige new remained to them, and still less of any more substantial possessions.

One showery spring day about two years after Frank Cahill's emigration, important domestic affairs were being discussed in the parlour of Joseph Dermody, Rathkerin's principal tradesman. The matter under consideration was nothing less than the marrize of his older son. A rather curious feature in the conference was that Thomas, the person most concerned, appeared, not at all deceptively, to be the most indifferent. He took only a slight part in the discussion, and when he did intervene, it was but lukewarmly to side with his father, whose views were being opposed by his mother and three sisters. Joseph Dermody was a man who as a rule got his own way in managing affairs of business, and, though thus out-numbered and circumstances been strongly against him. The fact that Mrs. Dermody was just recovering from a somewhat serious attack of pleurisy, which had greatly alarmed her family, gave her wishes unusual weight as well with her husband. who disapproved of them, as with her daughters. who shared them anthusiastically. She must therefore be admitted to have shown considerable judgment in selecting this time for the production of her favourite project, namely, that Thomas should marry one or other of the two grown-up O'Meata girls. It was a plan which she had long entertained; and a very propitious moment for carrying it out seemed to have arrived, now that Thomas had got a clerkship in Parclough, the county town more than a dozen miles away, where he would presently be taking up his abode. What recommended the some mortification that he had certainly made a match to Mrs. Dermody and her daughters was social ambition, with which their minds were much occupied. Mrs. Dermody always failed to fetter himself for life to one of those whether Lizzie might not actually also have a Haslett that she looked upon his nicce as a neath her station in life: her neighbours small, dark-eyed girl - such as Nellie Magrathcould not think why, as "nobody had ever who always looked shyly pleased to see him, and thought anything of them Clarkes." On the conscience of Mrs. Dermody a conperson about whom, believing him to be at a safe distance, she had told such an entirely unfounded falsehood. North and Thomas, however, both behaved with a generus forbearance, and discreetly refained from making any awkward disclosure : if indeed the incident had not in their pre-occupation altogether escaped thir memories, and Lizzie's own mind was presently diverted to a more agreeable topic. For very soon after Thomas Dermody had brought home his righly dowered bride, it occurred to Andrew Haslett that he might as well find himself a wife to share his still abundant wealth; and he lost no time in flxing upon the eldest Miss O'Meara, who on this occasion had no need to explain a refusal by an untruthful excuse, seeing that her acceptance of his offer was genuinely delighted.

Thus Fortune must be considered to have dealt more kindly with these neighbours than she had at one time seemed at all likely to do: and though Mrs. ermody did entertain the opinion that Andrew Haslett might have found among his niece's three sisters-in-law a match far more suitable than penniless Lizzie O'Meara, even she, despite all her querulous inconsistency, felt on the whole tolerably well satisfied with the turns which affairs had taken.

ONE WHOLE YEAR IN BED WITH MALARIA AND RHHUMATISM.

TREATMENT AFTER TREATMENT FAILED UNTIL THE GREAT PROVED REMEDY WAS TRIED. DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Whilst Mr. P. F. A. Jayawardene owes a great deal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills his debt of gratitude is even greater to his father, for had he not taken the latter's advice and persevered with the Pills, it is more than likely that to-day he would still be as badly stricken with Malaria and Rhoumatism as he was before he tried them.

OF COLOMBO.

(From a Photograph.) Mr. Jayawardene's father, Mr. F. A. Jayawardene, is well-known throughout Ceylon, as a Notary Public, and also as a landed proprietor. Mrs. Gaunt on a clever piece of writing. It is His son resides with him at "Agnes House." Mutwal, Colombo.

"It was whilst working on an estate of my father's at Kurunegala that I contracted edition. Malaria." said the young man, "and after a year of suffering from this malady, which pulled me down terribly, I became a victim also to Rheumatism. So badly did the latter complaint affect me that when I moved my arms or legs the joints would crack and pain me greatly--the sensation was just as though my very sinews were being pulled out. So helpless did I eyentually become that I could not even stand on my literary art and in a style which makes "The legs, and I was kept in bed for a whole year. What a time of misery that was for me no one will ever know. Doctor after doctor treated me, and I took gallons of their medicines, but I cannot say that I was benefitted in the least degree I despaired at last of ever recovering my lost health and strongth. "But my father happened to read of a case similar to mine in which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People had worked a cure, and he induced me to try these Pills.

"I felt no relief at all after the first bottle and wanted to discontinue, but my father pointed out that I could not expect any medicine to cure such an obstinate and longstanding case as mine so quickly, and, as I saw the force of his argument. I tried another bottle.

"To my astonishment, the pains in my bones edict of October 8, 1908. REVIEWS.

The Memmy Moves. BY MARY GAUNT. London: T. Werner Laurie. In "The Uncounted Cost," Mrs. Gaunt showed us that she had some acquaintance of the West Coast of Africa and the peculiar religious beliefs and emotions of the natives who inhabit that region. Though she locates her latest work in the heart of London, she again gives us glimpse of the hidden forces that move the West African, veneered though he may be by the polish of an English University education. The story opens with the murder of an old curio collector, the possessor of an Egyptian mummy. Shrouded in mystery, the crime is investigated by a delightful detective-Dodson by name—who aspires to be a popular novelist and exudes quotation, classical and modern, in dead and live languages, with the facility of a professor of literature. There are no less than three murders, each bearing the same superficial characteristics. They puszle Dodson, and we fancy they will puzzle every reader of the book. One is carried from mystery to mystery, following Dodson up one blind alley after another. Mrs. Gaunt has certainly succeeded in hiding her secret very well, and the reader is scarcely prepared for the denouement which draws aside the veil from the final mystery and reveals the unsuspected lover of a serving maid as the perpetrator of the successive murders. There is here thrills sufficient to arouse the interest of the most jaded novel reader, and we must compliment unfortunate that the printer has allowed an inordinate number of misprints to get into this

The Happy Moralist. By HUBERT BLAND, London : T. Werner Laurie.

The title of this book aptly suggests its contents. There is in the collection of seventeen storyettes adeal of philosophising on both big and small problems of life, but it is all done with a Happy Moralist" a book to be welcomed in the idle hour. Mr. Bland is a most entertaining literary conversationalist, a delightful philanderer, and whoever dips into the first few pages of this book will be loth to put it down before he has read it from beginning to end.
